

Learning A-Z Wins Three EdTech Cool Tool Awards for PreK–6 Blended Learning Solutions

The 2020 EdTech Awards also recognize Learning A-Z curriculum resources as Cool Tool Award finalists in six additional categories

Tucson, AZ—May 14, 2020—The 2020 EdTech Awards have selected Headsprout, Raz-Plus ELL Edition, and Science A-Z from Learning A-Z as Cool Tool Award winners. Learning A-Z's literacy-focused PreK–6 learning solutions also earned finalist nods in six additional categories.

Headsprout, an adaptive online and mobile reading program for K–5 students, was chosen as the Cool Tool Award winner in the Adaptive Technology Solution category, and it was a finalist in the Mobile App Solution category. Raz-Plus ELL Edition, a collection of leveled books and resources for English language learners, won in the Language Learning Solution category. Science A-Z, a curriculum resource that provides multilevel books and science experiments for K–6 students, was the Science Solution category winner, and it was a finalist in the STEM Solution category.

Raz-Plus, a blended learning platform for K–5 reading, was recognized as a finalist in three categories: Language Arts Solution, Literacy/Reading Solution, and e-Learning, Blended, or Flipped Solution. In addition, Vocabulary A-Z, a digital solution for helping K–5 students build vocabulary and increase reading comprehension, was chosen as a finalist in the Literacy/Reading Solution and Parent/Student Solution categories.

“Whether teachers are in the classroom or working with students remotely, they need thoughtfully designed resources that provide them with the tools to offer effective, differentiated instruction to reach every learner. With Learning A-Z’s blended learning solutions, teachers have instant access to a library of reading, writing, science, and vocabulary resources that can be easily customized for individual, small-group, and whole-class instruction,” said Lisa O’Masta, president of Learning A-Z. “We thank the EdTech Awards for recognizing our solutions as being among the best and brightest in ed tech, and we give special thanks to all of the teachers and parents who are working diligently to support students in innovative ways during these unprecedented times.”

The EdTech Awards recognize people in and around education for outstanding contributions in transforming education through technology to enrich the lives of learners everywhere. Celebrating its 10th anniversary, the U.S.-based program is the largest recognition program in all of education technology.
